

PALMER GETS IN PRESIDENTIAL RACE

Is First Candidate To Announce For the Democratic Nomination

(By Associated Press)
Washington, March 2—The announcement of Attorney General Palmer last night as a democratic candidate for the Presidency is believed to open the way for other democrats to announce their candidacies, probably including McAdoo, Bryan, Gov. Cox, former Ambassador Gerard, Hoover, Senator Edwards, of New Jersey, Senator Owen and Representative Champ Clark.

Palmer formally announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for the Presidency in a telegram to Hiram L. Gardner, secretary of the Georgia State Democratic Committee. The telegram from Mr. Palmer read as follows:

"I understand that my friends have entered my name in the presidential primaries. If the democrats of the state of Georgia see fit to elect me as their choice, I shall receive the honor with deep appreciation.

"I deem it to be highly important that the democrats of Georgia should have the opportunity to pass directly upon the record made by the present administration. The candidacy of one who supports that record in every phase presents that opportunity."

This means, it was said, all danger of a general strike at this time is removed. One union official said:

"We are all good Americans and desire to go along with the President as far as we can."

GAMBLERS TRAIL HARVESTER AND REAP HARVEST FROM HIM

HARVEST TIMES and DATES OF MIGRATION OF WORKERS

The migrant worker has none of the protections of Society. He has no home. No community stands behind him. No organization sees that he gets fair play. He is the prey of the gamblers, the crooked politician, the police stool pigeon and the yeggman. He is a worker-outcast. The Interchurch World Movement is now making a survey of his problems to bring about a closer co-operation of the churches of America in its solution.

Each fall, in the wake of the great harvest, comes the sad news from Nebraska that he has no social base. Sometimes the private employment agency, sometimes the railroad and again the local officials and the police take an anti-social attitude toward him. For he seems to them little more than a working hobo.

An unscrupulous employer will use him as a strike-breaker, with no intention of giving him a permanent place. A ward politician will buy his vote at election time. These are incidents in his migratory career. But the parasite who trails him through the harvests is constant, and the harvest of the parasite is always rich.

MISS COLYER PASSES AWAY IN NEBRASKA

Word has been received in this city announcing the death of Miss Jessie Colyer, which occurred at Omaha, Nebraska, Wednesday, February 11, following an attack of influenza.

Miss Colyer was born and raised in Butler, and was a graduate of the Butler High School. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Colyer, former well-known residents of this city. Their home in recent years has been at Omaha, Nebraska.

Many friends in this city will mourn the death of this bright and charming young lady.

No hogs or sheep were on the market.

WHY COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

You are often told to "beware of a cold," but why? We will tell you: Every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases. People who contract pneumonia first take cold. The longer a cold hangs on, the greater the danger, especially from the germ diseases, as a cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of consumption, diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough. The quicker you get rid of your cold, the less the danger of contracting one of these diseases. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation as a cure for colds and be depended upon. It is pleasant to take.

Governor Morrow sent a message to the Legislature requesting an appropriation of $3,000 to pay the expenses of the trip of a Commissioner to England to obtain the flag captured from Kentuckians by the British at the battle of the River Raisin during the war of 1812.

The Governor urged the passage of an act to provide for the organization of a Jefferson Davis Memorial Association to acquire the home of Jefferson Davis and the park surrounding it, the property to be maintained by the state.

He later appeared before the House and explained the provisions and workings of the budget bills.

If the budget bills are passed in the form recommended by the Budget Appropriation Commission, Governor Morrow believes that in two years the Legislature will be in a position to meet all just claims which have been presented to this Legislature, but which it will be necessary to reject.

No increase in the salaries of state employees were advocated, he said, because of the fact that the state was without funds to allow increases.

If the Legislature limits the appropriation to the amounts detailed in the budget appropriation bills, Governor Morrow said that the state would have a balance of $750,000 annually to apply to the payment of the state debt.

The House concurred in the Senate amendment to the Lawrence bill to transfer the office of the State Fire Marshal to the Auditor and to allot the duties of the Fire Marshal to the Sheriffs of the various counties.

HUGUELY TO HANDLE MIDDLESBORO OFFICE

Former Local Man Promoted In U. S. Service—Tells Of Big Fight With 'Shiner'

D. Tevis Hugely was in Richmond the other day with relatives for a few hours while en route from Danville to Middlesboro, where he will have charge of the internal revenue office as deputy collector. Mr. Hugely has been doing fine work as deputy collector out of the Danville office, and the change to Middlesboro comes in the nature of quite a promotion to him, which will be good news to his many friends at his old home here in Richmond. He has made special studies of the income tax laws and has charge of a big territory in that work.

While here Mr. Hugely told of a terrific hand-to-hand fight which Deputy Collector Rowan Saufley, of Stanford, who is in the Prohibition Enforcement department, had with a man in Casey county. The man named Ethle Mays, had been defying officers in that section and had them all bluffed, it seemed. Mays had chased his family away from home at the time, and had been "cutting up generally" when Saufley went to arrest him. Mays who is a powerful man, refused to submit to arrest and as Mr. Hugely describes it, endeavored to "bear hug" the officer who was between him and the door.

Saufley, however, is but a medium sized man but hard as nails. He did not wish to kill the man, so used his pistol as a club, and as Mays lunged to grab him, brought it down on his head. The blow did not seem to faze Mays, who came again, and the two fought around the room like a whirlwind. Saufley managed to get another crack on Mays' head. However, and he went down that time, and was stunned for several minutes. He had enough after that and went along with the officer to jail as meek as a little lamb. Saufley was covered with Mays' blood and looked like he had been killing hogs when the boat was over.

Hugely says that Saufley and Chas. Murrey, who do a great deal of shiner raiding in the rough sections, are known as two of the most fearless and effective men in the state and that when they go after anything they usually get it.

After the fight with Mays, Saufley captured Bill Turpin in Casey is alleged to be a "shiner," using the same gun to make Turpin "throw up his hands" that he had broken over the head of Mays. It developed that Turpin had been a private in the company of which Saufley was an officer during the Spanish-American war.
